This is a semi culture free IQ test. 64 problems measure pattern recognition in verbal, numerical and spatial environments. No math skill, advanced vocabulary or specific knowledge are needed.

Difficulty is low. As pattern recognition, of all abilities, has the highest correlation with "g" and is the least trainable, items need not be strenuous. Aim is to combine high test ceiling and low time consumption.

A problem has two five-element columns. The elements in a column have a common feature, and common features of columns contrast. For each problem, explain on paper the common features. A recognized feature earns a point, so maximum score is 128.

There is no time limit, and use of reference aids and pocket calculator is allowed. Use a computer only for word processing. Discussion with others is not allowed.

Submit answers to the address above, and mention name, address, age, sex and possible prior IQ and aptitude test scores, including names of tests. Do not withhold scores, as that would influence the norming process. Enclose US $5.

Score report will follow within two weeks. A detailed statistical report will be published when enough data has come in. Inquiries can be made at above address.

This test is used for admission to The Glia Society (99.9th percentile), and other societies may also choose to accept it.
